For the twenty nine years that the mill has been running the yearly cut of logs has averaged about 12,000,000 feet, or the immense amount of 348, 000,000 for the whole time. It is the sincere hope of all that the Leather Co's plans may include the running of the mill as usual, but no definite announcement has yet been made.

THE CHEER

OF THE MAN WHO WINS

The man who wins a good position and high salary is entitled to cheer. He has accomplished something worth while, and yet winning is really easy. First, because there are more good positions than there are trained men to fill them; and second, because any man, no matter who he is, how low his present position, can acquire, in a short time, and without sacrifice, the exact training necessary to win in a time of work he selects.

This has been made possible by the enormous resources and unlimited facilities of the International Correspondence Schools, an institution of 15 years' standing, supported by an invested capital of $2,000,000 and conducted for the sole purpose of training poorly paid men to earn higher salaries. In a nut shell, if you have any ambition, the I. C. S. can help you to win.

How to See the Good and Bad in a Coat.

In buying a suit you must remember that the principal test of quality and workmanship comes in the coat and that this is the important garment, which is realized from the fact that in a $20.00 suit the coat amounts to $11.25, the vest $2.75, and the pants $6.00. It is not a matter of workmanship which go to make up a coat.

The important parts of a coat must always fall at the points indicated by the arrows in the picture. You will find that most garments show poor workmanship in these parts if you will look carefully.

In a great many coats the style and shape are largely given by the use of the flat-iron. You can demonstrate that this is not good workmanship if you will compare any coat made in this manner with shape and character as long as you wear the garment.

There is reason for all this; a firm who have built up a reputation such as Hart Schaffner & Marx enjoy, must necessarily produce clothing of the highest quality, and which give the wearer the utmost satisfaction. The Mouth of June.

Hicks, the St. Louis weather man, has fixed up a programme for June that is attractive to people who hate that weather. June, he says, is to be more freakish than May or April. During this month of roses "phenomenal perturbations will reach some sort of crisis in earth and sky."

The initial "five days" storm period began on the 2nd and will continue over Friday the 7th, if Hicks knows his business; and he hit it off regular all last month. There is to be a marked rise in temperature, falling barometer and severe thunderstorms, cloudbursts and "possible tornadoes."

Then after a two days' rest the performance will open up again next Sunday, continuing for three days—excessive heat, extreme humidity, with violent thunder and wind storms.

Four days, beginning a week from Saturday, will be one of the "decadent turmoil" periods of the month—low barometer, excessive humidity and heat, violent and dangerous storms in which destructive winds are going to "reverse all their usual directions"—probably blowing up and down.

Local "rain deluges" will come about the 22nd, and the grand wind-up will begin on or about the 27th, with rain, wind and thunder for three or four days.

Taking it all in all, so Hicks says, June will be about as lively a month as one might wish to see—with earthquakes in the earthquake regions, volcanic disturbances, sun spots, auroral displays, "and such."

Heat and humidity and thunder storms will make the growing time that the farmers have been waiting for; so there will be a good side to the month.—Free Press.

Strong's Body Found.

Merrill News:—While log drivers were engaged in driving the logs down the Wisconsin river near Grandfather Falls yesterday afternoon the body of a man was found. The body, it is reported, was wedged in between logs, where it must have been since it was in the water. The body was taken out of the river, and although badly decomposed it was learned that it was the remains of Wallace Strong, who was drowned October 30th.

The relatives of the deceased have been notified at Nekoosa, but as yet no answer has been received.

At the time of the drowning Mr. Strong was working for the Grandfather Falls company helping them construct the dam. The story of the affair taken from the News of November 2nd follows:

"Mr. Strong, previous to the accident, was working on some tram cars that carried material along the constructed part of the dam. As the train was passing slowly down the track he attempted to jump from a position on one of the cars to another car, and in doing it he missed his footing and fell off, rolling down the embankment into the rapids below, which are dangerously swift.

Caught by the rapid flowing water he disappeared from sight and a moment later was seen on the surface again about eighty feet below the dam, for a short time. This was the last seen of him. The people at Grandfather have been attempting to find his remains but so far have been entirely unsuccessful.

Mr. Strong, who is a pipe fitter by trade, lived in Nekoosa, and was a sober industrious man and well liked by all that knew him. His wife and adopted child survive him, and are making their home in Nekoosa.

It's The Skin, Not The Blood.

—If you slash your finger do you drink liniment to cure it? No you apply the lotion to the wound, yet people are treating skin diseases constantly by dosing the stomach.

Until a few years ago many doctors thought that skin diseases originated with the blood. But the application of the germ theory proves that skin diseases are caused by the germs which lodge in the skin.

To cure the skin direct, through the skin, Dr. D. D. Dennis compounded oil of ichthyogen and other remedial agents into a liquid called D. D. D. Prescription. He gave this to his patients and found that the eczema germs were eradicated while the healthy skin was not injured at all.

Later Dr. Dennis was prevailed upon to allow a private company in Chicago to put up this remedy in bottles. While Dr. Dennis has no direct connection with the company selling the prescription he endorsed the remedy and sanctioned the sale of D. D. D. through drug stores.

Great credit is due to physicians who recommend the remedy—when there are many such physicians—and who can make so much larger fees by writing out their own prescriptions.

We vouch for D. D. D. prescription and D. D. D. soap and recommend these to all sufferers from skin diseases.

The Sad Little Boy.

Why does the little boy look so sad? The little boy is sad because his Pa looks so seedy. Why should his Pa look seedy? He should not look seedy. He has no right to look seedy.

Does the little boy's Ma look as seedy as his Pa? No, his Ma does not look so seedy but she is also very sad because his Pa looks so seedy.

Should Pa's clothes be seedy so soon? No they should not, but they were "Pink clothes" Did Pa pay his good money for the "Pink" clothes? Yes.

Isn't it too bad? He should have bought one of those good KRUGER & WARNER suits, then he would not have been seedy.

Yes, and the little boy and his Ma would have been happy.

My, wouldn't that be nice for the little boy and his Ma?

Let us have Pa buy his next suit at Kruger & Warner's.

Daily Drug & Jewelry Co. Clover Splendid Feed For Sheep. Have you saved a nice lot of clover in a place by itself in the barn, where you can get at it this winter for the sheep? If not, can you not cut a piece of second growth yet? Splendid feed. Nothing better. To Develop Hardier Fruits. A large collection of fruit trees from Siberia have been received by the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. The collection, which consists largely of plums and apple trees, is said to be the most complete of its kind in the West. Many of the specimens have economic value, and others are purely ornamental. They will be used largely in plant breeding experiments carried on by the department of horticulture. It is believed that by grafting and crossing with American varieties hardier types will be developed that can be grown to advantage in the northern parts of the state. As native to Siberia, these are very hardy, though of less delicate flavor. By experimental work it is probable that the better qualities of the American grown fruit can be grafted upon the hardy Siberian stock, with a resulting variety combining the desired qualities of both.

POINTS ABOUT THE SHORTHORNS. A writer in the American Cultivator gives the following description of Shorthorn cattle. The breed is distinguished by its symmetrical proportions and by its great bulk on a comparatively small frame, the oval being very light and the limbs small and fine. The head is expressive, being rather broad across the forehead, tapering gracefully below the eyes to an open nostril and a fine, prominent and of a particularly placid, sweet expression, the whole countenance being remarkably gentle. The horns (when carried) are usually short, springing well from the head, with a graceful downward curl, and are of a creamy white or yellowish color, the ends being fine, erect and bulky. The neck is moderately thick (muscular in the male) and set straight back, well into the shoulders, when lowered in front, are very showing thickness through the heart, the breast coming well forward and the fore legs standing short and wide apart. The back among the higher bred animals is remarkably broad and flat, the ribs barrel-like, curving well out of it, and with little space between them and the hip bones, which are soft and well covered. The hind quarters are long and well filled in, the tail being set square on to them; the thighs meet low down, forming the full and deep twist, the flanks should be deep, so as to partially cover the under, which should not be too large, but placed well forward, the tows being well formed, square set and of medium size, the hind legs should be very short and stand wide and quite straight to the ground. The general appearance should show even outlines. The white skin is covered by a fine undercoat, and this hair is of the most pleasing variety of color, or from a soft creamy white to a full deep red. Occasionally the animal is half red and white, the white being found principally on the forehead, under the belly and a few spots on the hind quarters and legs. On touching the feet points the skin is found to be soft and mellow, as if lying on a soft cushion. In animals thin in condition a kind of inner skin is felt, which is the "quality" or "handling" indicative of these good fattening propensities for which the breed is so famous. The subject of the illustration, from Breeder's Gazette, Chicago, is Sanquhar Congour, champion Shorthorn bull at the recent Buenos Ayres live stock show. Shoeing the Horse. The owner should supervise the shoeing of his horses, and in addition to the use of shoes of proper weight and form the following points should be attended to: The frog is to be left untouched by knife or other instrument, only that portion of the sole which is dead and loose is to be removed; the bars are to be left alone; the heels are not to be "ground" by a couple of deep notches; the outer surface of the wall is not to be rasped, with the exception of a slight depression under each nail point to allow of proper clinching; the sole is to be fitted to the shoe; the shoe is not to be applied to the sole when red hot unless a light touch is necessary to show where the horn must be rasped away to furnish a proper seat for the shoe; the rasp is always to be used in preference to the knife or buttress; shoes should be reset or replaced only a month; nails should be without a nail; not too large and not driven too high or too close to the sensitive structures within the horny box of the foot; the feet are to be kept as truly level as possible, and while keeping the toes comparatively short, the heels are not to be unaccountably lowered.—A. S. Alexander, Dane County, Wis. Horne Again. Recently a cattle salesman in the stockyards showed us a load of steers and said: "I had to take 25 cents per hundredweight less than that load of cattle is worth simply because they have horns." I have tried every buyer on the market, and all of them bid below their value on account of the horns. You can't put it too strong when you urge feeders to "dehorn" their cattle or feed "weaned ones." The load mentioned weighs over 20,000 pounds, so it seems that it cost this particular feed, or over $20 for his failure to have the horns taken off. The argument may not be so great as in all cases, but it will be on a bad market, and in any case it is sufficient to pay very well for dehorning.—National Stockman and Farmer. A Killing Amendment. "Such an amendment," said a senator during a debate, "would destroy the bill's meaning, even as the maining of the epithet on old John Skinn's tombstone was destroyed. An amendment was tacked to John Skinn's epitaph. It consisted of one word, the word 'friends.' It was put on in the dead of night. The epitaph previous to the amendment read, 'He did his best.' Herman Podawiltz, proprietor of the Switch saloon near Port Edwards, was robbed by his bar tender, Andrew Mar, on Wednesday May 15, of $100. Podawiltz was at Grand Rapids on Thursday and while here secured a witness in the Neneffeld. Mar had been working there since the previous Monday and seemed all right and trustworthy though an entire stranger. He had come to Mr. Podawiltz looking for a job and Podawiltz, needing a bar tender, put him to work. On Wednesday Mar turned on the air drum full blast and broke the glass connecting with the beer keg on tap. He then sent for Mrs. Podawiltz to stay in the saloon while he went to Port Edwards to telephone to Grand Rapids for some one to come and repair the connection. That was the last seen of the bar tender and Mr. Podawiltz found that he had lost along the entire contents of the saloon. Mar was by the name of Billy Meyers at Elron, while at Port Edwards he was known as Billy Mar. At the latter place he stole a coat which he wore when he skipped. Mr. Podawiltz desired the matter kept quiet at first so that the officers which he started out at once to hunt up the fleeking drink dispenser, might stand a better show of running him down, but up to date he has eluded the grasp of the law, his whereabouts being unknown. Six cans of brook trout were received here last Saturday, two cans being consigned to J. E. Brazee, two for Casper Youngchild, one for A. E. Kleberg and one for Geo. B. Brazee. They were shipped from the state fish hatchery at Madison to Nekosea upon the solicitation of Senator Theo. W. Brazee and were distributed in three cases to this vicinity, being placed in Seven Mile creek, Ten Mile creek and Fountain Mile creek. Geo. H. Conklin of Seneca, and Simon Worland, of Sigel, members of the county board committee on roads and bridges, were in Nekosea Monday evening on their way to Saratoga where they will represent the county in letting contracts for the building of two new bridges. Emmanuel Nordquist of Chicago was in the city on Monday with H. Ulrich, the real estate dealer, from whom he has purchased the Greenwood Lane farm adjoining Grand Rapids, the consideration being $6000. The farm is also well known as the Park farm. Mr. Nordquist will move on his farm on or about June 8. Compensation for Small Men. There are, indeed, many compensations which fall to the lot of one who is short of stature. Herman Podawiltz, proprietor of the Switch saloon near Port Edwards, was robbed by his bar tender, Andrew Mar, on Wednesday May 15, of $100. Podawiltz was at Grand Rapids on Thursday and while here secured a witness in the Neneffeld. Mar had been working there since the previous Monday and seemed all right and trustworthy though an entire stranger. He had come to Mr. Podawiltz looking for a job and Podawiltz, needing a bar tender, put him to work. On Wednesday Mar turned on the air drum full blast and broke the glass connecting with the beer keg on tap. He then sent for Mrs. Podawiltz to stay in the saloon while he went to Port Edwards to telephone to Grand Rapids for some one to come and repair the connection. That was the last seen of the bar tender and Mr. Podawiltz found that he had lost along the entire contents of the saloon. Mar was by the name of Billy Meyers at Elron, while at Port Edwards he was known as Billy Mar. At the latter place he stole a coat which he wore when he skipped. Mr. Podawiltz desired the matter kept quiet at first so that the officers which he started out at once to hunt up the fleeking drink dispenser, might stand a better show of running him down, but up to date he has eluded the grasp of the law, his whereabouts being unknown. Six cans of brook trout were received here last Saturday, two cans being consigned to J. E. Brazee, two for Casper Youngchild, one for A. E. Kleberg and one for Geo. B. Brazee.
